

JAPON CULTURE&SKIING

An incredible experience fusing the rich culture and the magnificent cities of Tokio, Kioto and Osaka with skiing in the Skiing Resorts of Hokkaido

The Japanese archipelago consists of more than 6,000 islands in the Pacific Ocean, forming one of the most populated countries in the world with a population of approximately 127 million people. The four largest islands are Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu, and Shikoku, and are divided into eight regions.

Tokyo

Tokyo is the capital city of Japan and the most populous metropolitan area in the world. It is one of the most captivating cities in the world, from the majestic temples of traditional Japan to the bright neon lights of Shibuya.

Tokyo has something for everyone and it is definitely a place to visit once in a lifetime. Plan your trip to Tokyo to perfection by reading our guides.

Kyoto

Kyoto, considered by many as Japan's most beautiful city, was the Japanese capital until the government was moved to Tokyo in 1868. However, the city is still Japan's religious center with over 1000 Buddhist temples.

Kyoto is also home to some of Japan's most iconic landmarks, with some of the most sublime and exquisite gardens, temples and masterpieces you will ever see.

Osaka

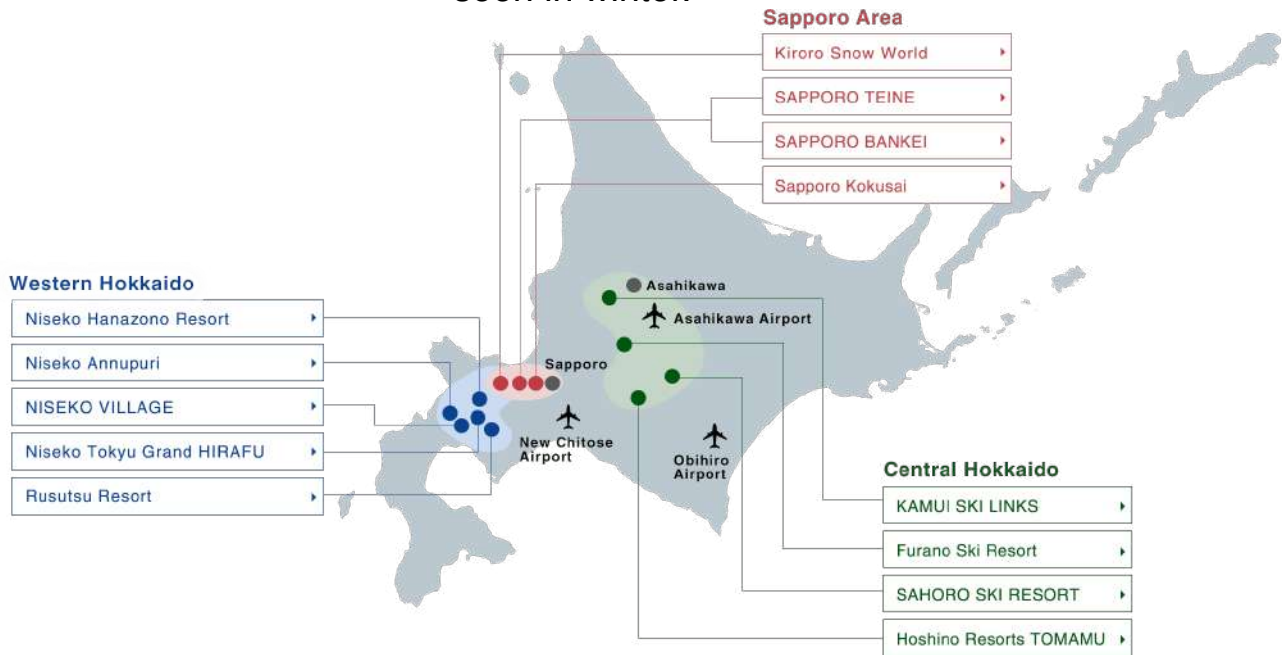

Osaka is Japan's third-largest city and was the country's first capital. It is considered a vital economic center in Japan. It is home to the largest seaport in Japan and many leading Japanese manufacturers.

Osaka city is also deemed a culinary paradise: its nickname Tenka no Daidokoro means the nation's kitchen.

SKI RESORTS

Surrounded by the Pacific Ocean. See of Japan and the Sea of Okhotsk. Hokkaido is an island of natural beauty. Even in humid Japan, the weather here is generally mild throughout the year. There is almost no influence by the rainy season or Typhoon in summer and a huge amount of snowfalls can be seen in winter.
